Introducing The Range 2005, a collection of contemporary and classic colours by Resene conceived for the year 2005.

Choice, choice and more choice. No longer content to simply run with the dominant trends, we are all interpreting the trends in our own unique manner. As savvy consumers we are seeking options, personalised to our own tastes, our own lifestyle, our own moods. This personalisation has resulted in an explosion of colour and finish options that may be mixed and matched in an infinite array of combinations to create something truly personal, truly unique. The Range 2005 collection encourages this personal interpretation offering suggested combinations on the back of each chip as starting points for blending the trends presented to suit your style.

Sensitivity and sensuality are not new concepts, but are becoming increasingly mainstream. Rules are relaxed; boundaries blurred - the rule, if any, is to simply choose elements that suit you, your style, elements that you love. This relaxed environment sees unexpected combinations of hues and materials - sometimes stunning, sometimes strange, but always personalised.

Pinks, traditionally scarcely used in Australasia, become a more popular means of portraying optimism. Typically embued with warm undertones, pinks such as Resene Cabaret, are best used in small doses or in cooler rooms to avoid perceptions of raised temperatures in already sun-dosed rooms. Purples are gently waning, with remaining hues, such as Resene Dotcom, being complex rather than clean and bright.

Copper and spiced hues continue from previous The Range collections in colours such as Resene Rust and Resene Moroccan Spice, cementing their importance as a means of adding a tangy edge to schemes.

Chocolate and coffee brown hues emerge signifying stability and comfort. Anchoring and dependable, browns, such as Resene Caffeine and Resene Barista, are a versatile solid base for neutrals and brights and are starting to cast their influence over developing hues.

Blues continue to be popular, whether watery, atmospheric or dependable. Tending towards a red edge to give a warm undertone or flowing towards airy atmospheric blues, the pure honesty of blue appeals to a wide range of tastes. Whether dark or light, we place our trust in increasingly complex blues, such as Resene True Blue and Resene Breakwater, to calm and relax the most tense situations.

To tone with the red edged blues, reds are soaking in blue undertones. Reds are predominantly finding their way into schemes as an important feature element rather than the bulk of the scheme, softened with sophisticated combinations of neutrals or cooled complex hues.

Drawn from its grounding role in Mother Nature, green continues as the new neutral - grounding, optimistic, regenerative, vital - an asexual colour that moves through soft neutrals to dark olives and citrus tones to provide balance.

Whites, neutrals and greys are responsible, the essential backbone of scheme development. Greys range from deepest charcoals through to weathered and atmospheric greys and hues of molten metals, such as Resene Jimmy Dean and Resene White Metal. Neutrals touch on cool and warm, safe options to anchor a scheme or be the scheme. Complexity encourages a chameleon like nature, allowing the same neutral to change to suit the hues it is teamed with.

The Range 2005 is a source of inspiration for you to mix and match your own trends and your own ideas to your plans.

Painted surfaces can reflect your personality, your soul - make the most of this canvas available to you, no matter how many colours or coats, as long as your ideas remain fresh the canvas will never grow old.
