Mosaic tiles in these two bathrooms are enlivened by matching Resene colours on the walls

Bathrooms provide an ideal opportunity to be a little adventurous with colour and materials. It's an approach that has paid off for the owners of this home designed by Architecture Smith + Scully.

The family bathroom is painted in Resene Ashanti, a soft duck-egg blue shade that matches the mosaic tiles around the tub. In the master bathroom, Resene Soho, a sparkling metallic from the Resene Metallics & Special Effects range, is a match for mosaic tiles in earth tones.

The family bathroom is painted in Resene SpaceCote Low Sheen Kitchen & Bathroom, which provides a durable finish suitable for broadwall and wet areas. This paint range is formulated with antibacterial silver and MoulDefender, which protects against bacteria and mould.

Resene SpaceCote Low Sheen Kitchen & Bathroom is most often used on walls, and can be teamed with Resene Lustacryl Kitchen & Bathroom on trim and joinery.

To help with colour selection, Resene has compiled The Range and The Range Whites & Neutrals fandecks. These charts present hundreds of on-trend colours and ideas for complementary shades.
