

Colours of the seaside

From watery blues and coral pinks to soft sandy hues, it's easy to choose Resene paint colours to complement the setting of your holiday home

Many of the best holiday homes are designed with simplicity in mind. But whether this is reflected in a neutral colour palette or something more vibrant, there's no doubt your choice of paint colour will have a direct bearing on the ambience of your home.

Your paint choice will also impact in other ways – a durable surface will pay off in terms of easy maintenance, which is essential for a holiday home.

Resene SpaceCote Low Sheen is an Environmental Choice-approved paint just as well suited to older homes as new ones. The waterborne enamel is tough, durable and washable. And, in critical light areas, its reduced side sheen will minimise any surface imperfections.

This paint is available in the entire spectrum of hues in the Resene Total Colour System. But, if that colour selection seems overwhelming, Resene has collated more than 150 of the most popular shades in The Range fandeck. You can also refer to the Resene Whites & Neutrals fandeck, which presents a collection of these tones.

Variations in strength make it easy to choose a tonal colour scheme.

For more information, or to pick up a copy of the latest fandeck, visit a Resene ColorShop, or freephone 0800 RESENE (737 363). Website: www.resene.co.nz.

Above: This holiday home features walls painted in Resene SpaceCote Low Sheen waterborne enamel, in the colour Resene Conch.