

It's easy to make your very own glittery Christmas cards with a little bit of help from Resene.

You will need:

- Paintbrushes (including a small artists' brush)
- Piece of folded card
- Resene Art Action glaze (satin)
- Resene Art Action Quick Dry
- Resene testpot of Resene Get Reddy
- Silver glitter

Step one
Paint the front of the card with one coat of Resene Art Action Quick Dry and allow to dry for two hours.

Step two
Paint the front of the card with two coats of Resene Get Reddy – make sure you allow two hours for each coat to dry.

Step three
Paint a Christmas message on the front of the card using Resene Art Action glaze.

Step four
Before the Resene Art Action glaze starts to dry, sprinkle with silver glitter and leave for a minute or so. Shake off any excess glitter and leave to dry. How fantastic is that?

Top tip:

To get a neat fold in the card simply score a fold line down the centre using a ruler and the back of a pair of scissors.

Here's another idea:

This bright birthday card was painted with Resene Orang-atan and sprinkled with purple glitter.
