

ART-DECO INSPIRED INTERIORS

The look is contemporary, conventional luxury updated with modern touches. Think Downtown Los Angeles art-inspired decor, and don't be afraid of mixing striking colours and unique design elements.

A base of luxurious furniture is the perfect starting point for discovering an artful, modern aesthetic.

Upholstery in velvet with vibrant hues is a main concept in the look, and often has a traditional shape, such as a deep buttoned armchair.

The conservative shape combined with a vibrant, attention-grabbing colour, such as Resene Niagara, makes the look bold and on-trend. Bright splashes of colour against a backdrop of monochrome tiles and cool white paint similar to Resene Saltpan are the perfect neutral backdrop to more striking design aspects.

Side tables, coffee tables and occasional tables are all areas in which you can have a little fun, choosing modern, sculptural pieces which mix elements of the traditional and unexpected.

Marble, stone and gold accents, similar to Resene Apache, add to the luxurious aesthetic, while simple black or white finishes are good go-to pieces if you need something simple to complement the bold accents.

However, don't go wild; if you have eye-catching occasional tables, select a more subtle coffee table with a clean aesthetic, which will balance your room. Remember to keep pieces functional and comfortable, so guests are not scared to sit back and put down their drink. A richly coloured velvet couch is perfect for a main sitting area, and a stack of art books on the coffee table invites guests to sit and relax.

The key to achieving this look is balance, allowing pops of colour, but not allowing them to be the sole focal point. Layering should be subtle and intuitive, hang a few photographic prints up on a wall, or perch objet d'art on the mantelpiece or coffee table, but avoid clutter.

The interior should seem thoughtful and artistic, but not meticulous. Finishes should be glossy and smooth, throw in some texture with sheepskin cushions, in subtle shades like Resene Greige.

If you have a spacious lounge area, consider having a bar. A fully stocked bar with a retro, glamorous feel will impress guests. Keep guests happy by serving up classic cocktails, in the appropriate glassware, to keep with the contemporary elegance. If you're operating in an urban location, opening up the bar for non-guests can stimulate a lively buzz which will add to your business' word-of-mouth marketing and atmosphere.

Extend the feeling of luxury into every aspect of your decor; it's the little things which can let you down. Beautiful gold cutlery, close to Resene Essential Cream, is the cherry on top of the cake, and will make guests feel even more special during their stay. Unexpected unique touches add flair to your interiors, such as a marble toothbrush holder or soap dish.

An eye-catching aesthetic can make more difference than just impressing guests, in the age where everyone is on Instagram, a unique interior can gain online attention, stimulate bookings, and make your business a hot destination. ●
