

Corner Bar
Hotel DeBrett

The Corner Bar at Hotel DeBrett has been a favourite drinking spot for city workers and weekend revellers for many years.

Following the upgrade of the adjacent 25 bedroom boutique hotel in 2009, the owners took the lease back and carried out a refurbishment of the bar, to bring it into line with the major upgrade of Hotel DeBrett. It was important the character of the bar was recognisable to the regular clientele, and that the footprint be retained for planning reasons.

The bar and its equipment had long passed its best, so this was replaced with a new more inviting and open timber, chrome and mirror tiled version, with additional coffee making facilities and a colourful collection of vintage and new Perspex pendant lights.

The existing timber floor was retained and refinished, the doors and windows overhauled and the ceiling relined to provide additional sound proofing to the hotel above.

The interior and exterior furniture was replaced with new colourful lightweight pieces, metal for the exterior and upholstered bentwood for the interior. The tables were purpose made to ensure the guest space was not compromised. The high level windows had a colourful mondrian patterned film applied to create a more intimate interior, which helps the bar stand out from its neighbours in this busy central city location.

Behind the scenes, a new kitchen serving bar food was fitted out, along with new sound and lighting systems.

Resene paints have been used throughout the new interior and on the façade of the building. They have been combined with a random collection of New Zealand vintage posters internally, their installation delayed due to the Christchurch earthquake. Wrapping papers also adorn the walls and the bathroom houses a collection of New Zealand art gallery invites.

The result is a very welcoming, warm and friendly New Zealand inspired interior that remains a city icon.

Architectural Specifier: Martin Hughes
 Interior Associates
www.martinhughesdesign.com
 Building Contractor: Cyclops
 Interior Designer: Michelle Deery
 and Stewart Harris
 Painting Contractor: Sharp Decorating
 Services Ltd
 Photographer: Joseph Roque
 Other Key Contributors: John Courtney,
 Matthew Hoddgets, Joseph Roque

Colours Used: Resene Mahogany,
 Resene Tall Poppy

Corner Bar - HotelDeBrett

The renowned Corner Bar at the Hotel DeBrett had long passed its best when the owners undertook the refurbishment of this well-known establishment earlier this year. The room was stripped back to its beginnings and now timber, chrome and mirror tiled bar fittings installed. A colourful collection of pendant lights, new furniture, sound system, window treatments and feature lighting compliment the new look interior.

Resene paints were used throughout to create a warm and inviting ambience. The paints were combined with a random collection of New Zealand vintage posters, wrapping papers and a collection of local art gallery invites.

RESENE COLOURS USED

Paint to walls, ceiling, doors, windows, skirtings, architraves, and all mouldings

Tall Poppy
 R42 082 032
 Anvik

Stain to Bar Counter and Table Tops

Resene Mahogany
 T10 020
 Interior Colourwood Natural Wood Stain

OTHER MATERIALS USED

Film to Wine Monogram etc window film orange, blue, green and etc

Bar front counter film Mirror film 25 x 25 mm Sheet size 1.2 x 300 mm

Art Posters Postcards A Mixed collection from around Zealand

Mahogany

Tall Poppy

Resene Tandoori

